

California Professional Firefighters Backs Faculty Association Call for Strike

Statement from Lou Paulson, President of the California Professional Firefighters

“California Professional Firefighters is proud to stand with the faculty of the California State University (CSU) system as they fight for the fairness on the job to which they’re entitled. A contract is a bond of trust that must be honored by all. By reneging on their negotiated contracts and hiking student fees at the same time they give themselves big raises, CSU executives are betraying basic values of dignity and respect, and putting their interests ahead of those of faculty and students.

“California’s future depends on high-quality, affordable college education that holds to the highest principles. We stand with the California Faculty Association in their fight to protect the fair pay and benefits for which they have negotiated in good faith.”
